Local Attorney, Bishop Making Waves In Gospel Music

What started as a musical gift to family and friends has turned into one of the Las Vegas valley's most original, enjoyable gospel albums.

If you haven't listened to Jay Young's expressive baritone voice, you should. Some are calling him gospel's most exciting new artist. The idea for his album, One More Stone, evolved from a perennial gift wish from his father to record favorite songs on a cassette tape. A gift that was once meant for a father is now available to all music enthusiasts.

Young, a Partner with Marquis & Aurbach, a Las Vegas law firm, and bishop to the Durango Ward, has always loved music. He first learned whether his future wife played the piano before he would ask her on a date. As fate would have it, she is an excellent pianist.

As a featured soloist for the Grammy Award-winning Saints Unified Voices choir, Young enjoys sharing his talents through its truly unique worldwide mission. Now, making his own music available on One More Stone, is the fulfillment of a life-long dream.
